About RealSupport, Inc.

Leverage Your Strengths for Success

In this life-changing webinar hosted by RealSupport in conjunction with RealPro Systems, Amy Stoehr, the Founder and Director of Real Estate Masters Guild, will guide you through the process of realizing your strengths and teaching you how you can leverage them for success. This is the basis of REMG's Level Two Mastery session, which focuses on building your team to include resources that will assist you, support you and help you grow. During this informative webinar you will not only discover where to focus your attention, but also those areas of your business that are ready to move off your to-do list. Stoehr will outline the many challenges you may face as your business grows and will give you the steps that you can take to identify your needs and address each challenge with ease.

General Topics Discussed:

- Identifying and leveraging your strengths
- Pulling together a plan for locating and surveying resources that will help you build your business and allow you to focus on growth
- Becoming proactive rather than reactive in your business

Meet Amy Stoehr:

Amy believes in the power of collaboration, education, and accountability. Starting in real estate back in 1992, she soon became team manager for a top-producing agent, and through that experience discovered the STAR POWER network. Believing so much in the power of learning from the best and sharing among the best, she went to work with them in 1996.

In 2008, she left a successful career as the Executive VP of Howard Brinton's STAR POWER Systems to launch a consulting business that focuses on the inside-out model of coaching she has been practicing since 2001. Then in 2009, she launched Real Estate Masters Guild to expand the opportunity to give real estate professionals one-on-one support and attention as they make lasting changes in their businesses and lives. What started as Amy's coaching practice is now Real Estate Masters Guild coaching services, and the Guild is now proud to be a part of parent company Real Pro Systems.

Meet Carrie Gable:

For over a decade Carrie Gable, President of RealSupport Inc., has been partnering with real estate professionals to improve their Internet marketing techniques and immediately transform their businesses. Realizing a major technological gap existed between real estate professionals and their prospective clients, Carrie launched RealSupport Inc. in 2000 to provide real estate professionals with the support they desperately craved. Also known as Real Estate Virtual Assistants, Carrie and her team have assisted top real estate professionals nationwide to improve their personal branding, market their listings, assist with projects, and most recently help launch and maintain their social media campaigns, just to name a few.

Highly sought after for speaking engagements, Carrie shares her expertise to educate her audience on how utilizing technology and social media allows real estate agents to work smarter, not harder. Further, her work has also been documented in The Washington Post, CRS Magazine, REALTOR magazine Online, as well as ePowerNews.com. Carrie is the Virtual Assistant Columnist for the VA Quick Tips Column of Michael Russer, aka Mr. Internet's nationally syndicated "Online Dominance" blog as well as a guest contributor to the Point2Agent blog. A frequent guest presenter for "Online Dominance" and a professor for "The Real Estate Tomato," Carrie continues to educate the Real Estate community on innovative ways to dominate their market while working less!

About RealPro Systems:

Real Pro Systems was founded in 2003 by two active real estate agents and one technically-talented former agent who shared a vision for building agent and lender solutions that went way beyond the basic websites offered by other vendors. The initial result was an agent system that combined the power of stealth website lead generation, an automated follow-up system, and a clean, crisp website. Leading agents quickly embraced the concept, and Real Pro Systems was a profitable enterprise from its very first month of operation.

Real Pro Systems' internet solutions enable agents to attract, engage and convert clients as never before. Empowering web presence with search engine optimization, video, blogging, podcasts, listing syndication, custom content and more, Real Pro's Web 2.0 technology gives you a powerful competitive edge. Since over 70% of home buyers and sellers select their agent over the internet, you need the Real Pro Systems advantage to win over buyers and sellers online.
